Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Choperena et al. or Shu et al.

The claims are directed to an apparatus having sample handling means capable of supplying a sample from a single source to "two or more analyzers". The Office has read the two or more automated analyzers as any means capable of analysis.

The cited art teaches analyzers with a single source of samples that are diverted to different analysis means (e.g. this is what the Office has read on the claimed "two or more analyzers"). The analyzers all have the claimed single common control console, bar code reader, pipetting stations, means to pierce reagent caps, "stat" sample areas that have been read on the claimed bypass area.
